FEATURES THIS WEEK

We call attention to a special fenture this week, an article by Dorothy Dlx, "The price we pay for the privilege of belonging to a famity." We urge every reader to peruse this article, feeling sure that it will prove both interesting and helpful to husiands and wives, fathers and mothers, old bachelors and old maids and even children.

In our intensive farming series, we have a very interesting contribution from the State Experiment Station on Legume crops and the Nitrogen supply. This article, if read, digested and practiced, will enrich every farmer in Eastern Kentucky and repay him a thousand-fold for his subscription to The Citizen.

On the subject of temperance, we not only present our usual temperance column on page 3, but give in other columns the substance of three addresses given by Dr. Crafts on his visit this week to Herea. Dr. Crafts, like Representative liobson, has the final and telling argument against the saloon. The editorial on the back page is clipped from one of the paniphlets which he distriseems to be equally telling.

TAFT REPUDIATED BY HOME STATE

It was declared by the Roosevelt supporters a few weeks ago that Massachusetts would decide the Republican contest, if Mr. Taft should lose, and then Maryland, and, finally, Ohio; and the President himself seems to have been willing that his home people-should be the arbiters. Of course he is by no means defeated yet, but owing to the gains of the ex-President, a stronger candidate may be sought and the President's votes be switched to him in the hope of checking the third term tide.

But then Teddy says, "I'll be the compromise candidate," and Teddy "is a wheel-horse."

DEATH IN THE CUP

The old Prophet discovered death in the pot—a single instance. The new prophets of health have discovered death in the cup—in the public drinking cup, and the cup, used in common, must go. Death is to be outlnwed.

And who wombers at the discovery? The consumptive, with his hollow chest and deep guttural cough, drinks from the goard, the cup or the dipper that the other members of the family use, be wanders to the crossroads store and the dipper provided for the customers is free to him, or, on his way to the city for treatment, in the train, he goes to the water-cooler in the car and uses the common glass, and there, as in the home and the store, the life of everyone who touches the glass with his lips is endangered by particles of sputum containing germs of the disease from his teeth, lips or mustache.

And it is not only consumption, the white plague, that is to be guarded against. Any one of a dozen diseases mny be communicated In the same manner. The doctors reporting to the State Board of Health last year listed 33,000 cases of venereal diseases in Kentucky alone. The Black Plague is, therefore, in our midst, sometimes more loathsome even than consumption, and it is not impossible to communicate it in the same way.

And then, to any nothing of the possibility of contracting disease, who relishes the thought of drinking after auyone and everyone he chances to see and meet-the foul breath, the nuclean lips, the dirty teeth, the drooping mustache, smeared with tobacco juice-

We welcome -- everyone should welcome -- the banishing of the public drinking cup by the act of the Legislature which is to be enforced after June 10th, 1912.

The text of the law follows:

AN ACT Prohibiting Public Brinking Cups. In force June 10, 1912

The use of the common drinking cup on railroad trains, and in railroad stations, public hotels, boarding houses, restaurants, or steamboats, in stores, or other publicly frerestaurants, or steamboats, in stores, or other publicly frequented places in Kentucky is hereby prohibited. No person or corporation in charge of the aforesahl places, and no person or corporation shall permit on said railroad train, in railroad stations, public hotels, toarding houses, restaurants, steamboats, stores, or any publicly frequented place in Kentucky, the use of the drinking cup in common. There must also be posted in a considenous place, by the individual or corporation, by the drinking water contained in any of the places mentioned in foregoing paragraph, a warning cardioard with the above printed thereon in large letters, so they can be easily read. Any person or corporation, violating the provisions of this act, shall, upon conviction, be fined in any sum not less than one dollar, and viction, be fined in any sum not less than one dollar, and not more than ten dollars, and each day's violation of any of the provisions of this act shall be considered a separate offense, punishable by fine in the amount named above.

All laws inconsistent with this net are hereby repealed.

FILUITS OF THE CRUSADE The ten years from 1900 to 1910 have witnessed great activity in the fight upon the white plague. It is during this period that the open air and rest methods of cure have been advocated everywhere. And the various workers have been taking stock, so too speak, in order to test the successe of their methods. The results are as follows: the death rate from consumption per one hundred thousand at the beginning of the decade was 196.9; at its close 160.3. There is a decrease, therefore, of it was the King. 26.6 per hundred thousand, or a percentage decrease of 18.7. To further show the effectiveness of the crusade, it is only necessary to state that the generat death rate has declined only about haif so fast or .7 per cent. GREAT RELIGIOUS GATHERINGS are being held this week; the general conference of the Methodist Enisconal Church at Minacapolis in its quadrennial session, the general assembly of the Northera Presbyterlan Church ia lts yearly meeting at Louisville, the general assembly of the Southern Precbyterian Church tion-Dr. Craft's Speaking Tour- at Bristol, Tenn., and the Southern Bryan at the Presbyterian General Baptist Conveation at Oklahoma

The matter of chief debate in the Methodist body has been the aarusement clause of the discipline. The movement for abolishing this clause lost hy a small majority. The discussions in the tresbyterian gathering at Louisville have been of a general nature, the chief promise of progress being in the wide feit necessity, as illustrated in the varlous addresses, of a greater and more unified missionary eadeavor. The Southern Presbyterian assembly has had to face some doctrinal disturbnaces, the "ciect infant" clause in the confession of faith, as usual, bobbing up to disturb 'the peace. The Baptists have had a great awakening (Continued on Page Five)

Wilt Thou be Made Whole?

By Rev. Parley E. Zartmann, D. D., Secretary of Extension Department Moody Bible

TEXT-Wilt thou be made whote?-Jehn

What else would be the deepest de sire of a man who had been sick for 38 years and who condition, arous-ing his desire, calling forth the cenfession of need, and assuring him of the possibility of henling. Thus the Great l'bysleian constantly desia with souts, to convince sinners of their tinas that theer are still defects in ure of faith prevents henling; in the other, lack of submission prevents wholeness. The study of the impotent man la interesting from every point of view; and the pisce at which the healing ocaverage. Grass conditions are unu-\curred is significant—Bethesda, meansually good. The loss from hog chot- ing house of mercy. The waters of the pool had certain curative properties, hut the man of the atory was in such a plight that he had no friends to put him into the pool when the water was troubled. It requires no strength of the imagination to suppose that his reply to Jesus not only was full of pathos, but also full of a great longing, for notice the quick response and the great result: "Jesus saith unto him rise, take up thy hed, and walk. And immediately the man was made whole, and took up his bed and walked." The main point of the atory is in v. 24: "Vertly, verily, I say unto you, he that heareth my word, and believeth on him that sent me, hath everlasting ilfe, and shall not come into cendemnation; but is passed from death unto life." This is really the gospel in a sentence, for the supreme purpose of Jesus was to give life and to heal ua from all infirmities.

We need not describe eternal life; but it is desirable, glorious and necessary. You cannot take a sin-sick, rulned soul out of this world and inhabit heaven with it in the next. You cannot. There is no such thing sfter death as a spiritual revolution. God would have to shut you in. The glorles of heaven would mean nothing to you, the songs of heaven would be terture to you, and heaven Itself a perpetual torment. So, because eternsi life is so desirable and is the free gift of God, through Jesus Christ our Lord, the question is pertinent, "Will thou he made whole?"

The conditions upon which you are made whole, of passing from death unto life, are knowledge, repeniance, hellef, obedience. They are so easy that we make them hard and miss tha blessing because we do not accept them in their simplicity. Eternal life in such a case is not a gift that we cannot have but that we will not have.

Let us never forget two outstanding things about sin: 1, it defiles. Sin is not manly, and ever since the day when the devil heguited Adam and Eve the trail of the serpent has wound its way through human nature and through human history, leaving defilement in its wake. 2. Sin destroys. This is an old-fashioned doctrine but as true as It is old. In spite of all that men may say, or hope, or do, the wages of sin ls dentil. Therefore, again the question is pertinent, Wilt thou be made whole?

This old-time story is a parable and promise, for Jesua Christ still walts to be gracious.

Every place of need may be a Bethesda, and just where you are Jesua stands opposite your need anying, "Wlit thou be made whole?" By every possible way he is plending. "O Israel, thou has destroyed thyself, but In me ia thy help." Thousands of people of every age and clime have found relief, besling and salvation just as the man at the pool found it that day by simple trust.

"Wilt thou be made whole?" That state and his large circle of acquaint is the question. How often Jesus has ances, combined with his energy and had to say, "Ye will not come unto tragedy when a soul turns away from hlm and goes out into darkness, despair and death. You can refuse

> Let the story teach us three things: The need of prompt response to Christ's words, no thought of failure In the future, and continuous use of let the wicked forsake his way and the unrighteous mnn his thoughts; and let him return unto the Lord and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God for he will abundantly pardon."

"The Great Physician now is near, The sympathizing Jeaus." "Man of Serrows, what a name For the Son of God who came, Rulned sinners to recision.

On the the cost of living has anaterially inthird ballot a unanimous verdict was reached, Lawson's attorneys will appent the case,, the principal ground for their contention being that one of the jurors, liarry Caines, had previously expressed an opinion that the defendant dererved the death penalty An affidavit to this effect was filed at the conclusion of the testimony, and a motion made to discharge the jury, which was overruled by the court The trials of Tom Martin, alias "Bud Dickerson," and Warren Wade, under indictment for the same crime. were set for hearing recently, but the probability is that one or both will be continued. At this time it would be almost impossible to secure a jury to try either without summoning n venire from snother county. The precaptions taken by Judge Marsball in placing gnards at the jad averted the danger of a mob, which there was reason to apprehend, and the night passed without disjurbance. Lawson and Martin were both returned to the Louisville jail for safekceping.

Warship Escorts Body.

Hamburg, Germany, May 17 .-- Accompanied by Dowager Queen Louise and three of her children, the hody of King Frederick VIII, of Denmark, who dropped dead in the street here Tuesday night, was shipped for labec on s special funeral train. The hereaved queen was prostrated with grief and was under the care of two physicians. The entire royal suite was in mourning and ahowed ovidences of deepost grief.

The three royal children who accompanied the queen were Prince Gustay and Princesses Tagmar and Thyra. They were inconsolable over denth of their father and insisted that the private coach in which the comn was carried should he atrewn with white rosea.

Warship Acts as Escort.

From Lubec the hody was carried to Travenumde, which is nine milea orth of that city on Neustadt hay. There it was taken on board the Danah ahlp Dannehrog, which, convoyed by a Danish warship, will carry the remains of the late monarch to Copenasken.

The coffin containing the royal hody was carried from the Hamburger 11of hotel to the railway atation early in he day as the train was scheduled to eave at 9 o'clock. The hotel was fraped in hiack and at a very early hour a crowd of curlous had gathered to see the cortege leave for the rallway station. The niembers of the royal family and the suite were conveyed in closed carriages. Dowager Queen Louise was dressed entirely in black and held a handkerchief to her face. Flags upon all the hulldlags in the city were at half-mast. ,The king's hody had been inclosed in a coffin of steel and oak, in keeping with the aimplicity of his life.

King Frederick VIII., accompanted hy Queen Louise and their aides and attendants, was on his way to the Riveria, where physicians had advised him to go to recuperate from the effects of a sévere attack of influenza and lacipient paeumonia, of which he was recently the victim.

A long motor ride through the damp air is believed to have brought o lapse, and his inslatence on waiking through the streets in the chill night air, despite the entreaties of his attendants, la thought to have sggravated his condition.

Queen Louise Hysterical.

When Queen Louise was Informed that the hody of a man of rank, richly dressed, had been found near the water front she became hysterical and, with a strange premonition of evil, declared that it was the king. No description of the hody had been given and members of the aulte ridiculed the idea that the hody found almost at the entrance of the docka waa that of their sovereign,

The body had been carried to a pubile hospital ward, and after life was declared extinct a search revealed docnments identifying it as that of Count Kronberg. Thia, aithough the local authorities did not know it, was one of the king's titles and was adopted by him as an incognito.

The instant that the queen entered the harely turnished ward ahe recognized the corpse as that of her husband, and in a paroxysm of greef threw herself across the cot on which the body lay.

Physicians hastened to her side and the was led, sobbing, from the room. Restoratives were applied and when she hecame more calm ahe ordered that the hody he remuved to the Hainhurg liof hotel with all possible dispatch.

VICE IS CAUSE OF INEBRIETY

Ons of Effects of Excessive Use of Alcohol Is Loss of Self-Control-Analogous to Insenity.

la an article on "Inebriety," published in the Outlook, the writer has this to say:

"Inehriety, though a disease, has heen produced by vice and leads to

"The appetites and passions should be under the control of the will, and so guided and directed by the reason as to promote physical, mental and moral health. When they are not thus under the control of the will and are not thus guided by the reason, the reault is intemperance. There may be an intemperate esting, as well as an intemperate drinking; an intemperate use of coffee, as well as an intemperate use of beer or wine. Such yielding to the appetites, such allowing of them to eacape from the control of the will and the reason, is a vice, Gluttony is as truly a vice as drunkenness, though not a vice which produces snything like as seriously injurious results either to the individual or to society. Cluttony is a sin and the glutton is a sinner. He is not to pity himself as a victim, but to condown himself as a sinner. This selfcondemnation is the first step toward reform. So drunkenaess is a sin and the drunkard is a ainner. He also la not to pity himself as a victim, but to condemn himself as a alaner. This self-condemnation in his case, as in the case of the glutton, is the first atep, and an indispensable atep. toward real reform. "But while intemperance in all ita forms is a sin, the disease which it produces ls not a sin. Gluttony may produce dyspepsia; dyspepsia is not a sin, though it may he a result of sin. Excessive drinking of tea may, and often does, produce serious nervous disease; nervous disease is not a sin, though it may he a result of ain. Excessive drinking of alcohol producea a diaease known as lnehrlety; that disease is not a sin, although it is alwaya a result of sin. One of the effects of thia disease in a loan of selfcontrol. He who is afflicted with this in ita most serious form is aa unable to control his appetites as a man afflicted with locomotor ataxia la to control his mnacles. To put a man afflicted with this disease in jail until he has recovered from the immediate latoxication, and then send him out again into temptations which he is poweriess to resist, la inexcusable folly. If a man has brought insasity upon himself hy vice, we do not punish the inaanity. We set ourselves to cure it. inehrlety is, in this respect, analogous to insanity. It is not to be punished; it is to be cured. This none the leas true because inehrlely la simost always, as insanity la frequently, the reault of vice. Society should distinguish hetween these three-vice, disease, crime-which it often confounds. The remedy for the vice of intemperance is largely moral and intellectual, or, in the broad sense of the term, character hullding. The remedy for the disease which that vice produces is partly moral and partly physical. For the crimes into which the vice often leads the intemperate person, acclety must, in self-protection, provide some form of punishment.

"But, in our judgment, punlahment, whether for the vice which produces the disease or for the crime which follows, ahould always he reformatory, not vindictive, in ita character. The distinction between sin and disease ia not easy to draw. Jesus Christ hahltually treated sin as a disesse which he had come to cure. When he was condemned for associating with publicana and sinners, he replied that they which were whole needed not a physician, but they which were aick. it has been well said that, if drunkenness produces poverty, it is equally true that poverty produces drunkenness. How far the hoy who has grown up in a family where there is no control of the appetites, who has Inherited from the father and mother a diseased appetite, who lives in an atmosphere which intensifies the craving for atlinulants, whose inadequate or improper food further intenalfies that craving-how far he is a guilty person to he punished, how far a disessed person to be cured, is a question to which no definite and final answer can be given.

"What Is true of drunkenness is true of other sins. They are partly the result of deliberate, intentional violation of law. They are partly the result of ignorance, lil-breeding, had Inheritance and almost irresistible social forces. Society has tried for many years the experiment of curing sin by punishing it. It is high time that society tried the experiment of curing crime hy removing the causes which produce it and hy treating the criminal as a diseased or insane person, to be sent to a hospital for remedial measures.

We can put our whole philosophy on this subject in a sentence, thus: it should be the object of society, not to fit the punishment to the offense, but to the offender. Or, ln another sentence, thus: 'The object of all punishment should be curative, not punltive; its object should be to punish erime only that it may cure crime, tirat in the individual, next in society.

"There is no offease to which this principle can be and should be more tnimediately and constantly applied

What if the purging was drastle and the throes suffered by the warring elements brought it staggering to its knees, was not the cleansing complete? The nation stands today the stronger and the aweeter for that conflict. For it was not merely the quarreisomo distemper of war that afflicted the people, but a acore of diseases; not human slavery aione, but factional jealousy, greed, aeifishness atate misgovernment and federal abuses, flow vastly these have been eliminated can be appreciated only by a study of the injustices of that ante-helium period. The nation in that memorable struggle was expected by cynical observers in Europe to crumble and fall. But these observers failed utterly to grasp the significance of the struggle that was being fought for national purity and national unity. instead of perceiving a giant rending himself, as they thought, they were watching a giant wrestling with the evil that was within him.

As the day of that conflict ever recedes, and the din grows less strident to the ear, its better significance makes itself felt. The broad page of history teaches a lesson that participation in the actual war itself might not have taught. If any soldiera stood in the trenches unmindful of the significance of the struggles in which he was a part, he is not unmindful now as he measures his step to the beat of the muffled drum today. For time has shown all wherein lay the universal meaning of that conflict. The nation was being bled of its distempers, even through his veins. TRUTHFULNESS.

LESSON TEXT-Matt. 5:33-37: James 3: GOLDEN TEWT-"tuiting away falsehood, speak ye truth each man with bits neighbor; for we are members one of another,"—Eph. 4:25.

In this lesson Jesus makes n sttti further spplication, or rather gives us selling off inifint cows at ruinous another illustration of the righteous ness of his new kingdom, which must be greater than that thught by tho Pharisees. We have studied the sacred relations of the righteons lite, now we are to consider the matter of truth. We have first a paragraph from plication from the writings of James the apostie. Under the old law men swore by heaven which is God's throne, by tha earth which is his footstoot, by Jerusalem which was his peculiar chosen city. They swore by the hend and yet they could not change one hair while or black. Jesus contrasts all of this with his new kingdom to which absolute simple verselty in our speech is ati that is to be required. This makes all oaths profane. When men live in these new relations, with this new consciousness of God they will speak the truth naturally and of necessity. To such there will be no need for any form of speech or oath, for the simplest, plainest speech will must adjust ourselves and therefore we do not rend into this any admonition not to take an oath in court.

PERSONAL EXPENSES for clothing, lnundry, postaga, hooka, etc., vnry with different people. Berea favors pinin clothing. Our climate is the best, but as atudents must attend classes regardless of the weather, warm wraps and underclothing, umbrelina and overshoes are necessary. The Co-operative Stora furnishes books, tollat articles, work uniforms, ambrellas and other necessary articles at cost. LIVING EXPENSES are renlly below cost. The College naks no rent for the fine hulidings in which students live, charging only enough room rent to pay for cleaning, repnirs, fuel, lighta, and washing of hedding and For table board, without coffee or extras, $1.35 a week, in the fail, and $1.50 in winter. For furnished room, with fuel, lights, washing of bedding, 40 to 60 cents for each parson. SCHOOL FEES are two. First n "Dotlar Deposit," as guarantee for raturn of room key, library hooks, etc. This is paid hut once, and is returned when the student departs.

Second an "incidental Fee" to help on expenses for cars of school huildings, hospital, library, etc. (Students pay nothing for tuition or services of teachers-all our instruction is n free gift). is having a nice celiar dug, it is now reach the highest efficiency. As John (c. Wooley says, the argument is no longer fallure but fitness. The Unit-Hamilton, O., May 20.-Vincent ed States Bureau of Labor, sums up report on "The Economic Aspects of the Liquor Question, ' based partly on answer to questions sent to a representative list of American employers, in these words: "More than half the establishments reporting require, in certain occupations and under certain circumstances, that emplovees shail not use intoxienting liquors." Husiness men and even labor unions have been fooled into the belief that "prohibition hurts business," when in fact to transfer the cupital that employed a hundred men lu making shoes to making liquore would put eleven twelfths of the men out of a lob.

Of each dollar spent in the manufacture of liquors, labor's share is only 2 cents, but labor's share of each doliar spent in the manufacture of the comforts of life, is 16.3 cents.

Hut proof was given all through the Malue campaign and unchallenged (for it was based on the figures of the Portland Argus, the leading liquor organ) that liquors cost Maino only $7.40 per family, $1.48 per capita, with all the defects In law enforcement and the Importation under the federal shield of interstate commerce. In this connection we quote as of profound significance a statement of the Crown Prince of Sweden at the opening of the Good Templar Summer Festival, Hessilholm, 1910: "The temperance movement is one of the greatest of our time, a movement by which the people will gain self-reliance and self-control. The final aim is nothing less than the most com-

Those words of the trown Prince represent the fingers of hygiene and heredity and husiness and patriotism, and they chime with words of the German Emperor, in Feb. 1911, "The nation which takes the similest quantlty of nicohol will win the battles of the future." Americans who have depended mostly on the argument of an intelligent self love in fighting the saloon as the foe of health and insiness prosperity should learn from the leaders in other lands the greater force of the arguments that bring in the force of heredity, patriotism patriotic argument is foremost.
